

Global snapshot

If you keep your food in a refrigerator, or sleep in a bed, you are richer than three-quarters of the world population.

One-fifth of the world population does not even have access to safe drinking water.

If you have a bank account you are among the wealthiest third of people in the world.

Ninety-seven percent of the world population does not have access to an internet connection.

Less than one-third of people in the world have attended primary school and only 7% have attended high school.

Source: <http://www.miniature-earth.com>